

Early Career Spotlight Contest

The EAAE, in collaboration with AgEconMeet, is launching a video contest for early career Agricultural Economists. Explain the importance of your research for science and society in the years to come at the celebration of 50 years EAAE. Consider participating, as you might end up presenting your work plenary in Bonn!

Guidelines:

- The contest is open to all early career EAAE members (maximum 6 years after obtaining your PhD).
- We ask you to record an original video of maximum 3 minutes in English mentioning (1) your name and affiliation, (2) current topic of research, and (3) how your research is important for the future of agriculture, the food sector or rural societies.
- Please use general language for a broad audience.
- You can upload your video until June 1st 2025 by clicking here.

Outcomes:

- All submitted videos will be given exposure through the EAAE communication channels and/or at the Congress itself.
- The top 3 video creators will be asked to present and discuss their work on stage in Bonn during a plenary ceremonial session.
- In addition, one final winner will be selected and awarded by the Congress audience.

Selection Criteria:

- Relevance/impact of the research
- Clarity of the storyline
- Creativity of the video

Practical Guidelines:

- ✓ Submit .mp4 file format and use your full name as filename
- ✓ Using a smartphone is fine, but ensure good audio
- ✓ Record in landscape orientation
- ✓ Use a high resolution
